

Messer Cutting & Welding GmbH is a company of MEC Group which is operating more than 60 companies around the globe. As an internationally leading supplier in the fields of welding, thermal cutting, assembling and gas supply systems we're successfully acting on the respective markets for more than 100 years.

In order to strengthen our team we're looking for a

Product Manager Oxyfuel Technology (m/f)

Tasks and responsibilities:

- Technical development and improvement of Oxyfuel products in connection with the sales and design departments and external suppliers
- Installation of assembly of Oxyfuel products in Asia
- Looking for adequate suppliers
- Organization of in-house customer trainings
- Technical training and support of supplier's staff in production/assembly
- Preparation of technical documents
- Product testing
- Regional sales responsibility
- Technical support to sales people, customers and suppliers

Profile of qualification:

- Mechanical engineer or similar qualification
- Experience in application of Oxyfuel technology, especially in pressure regulators, torches and Oxyfuel cutting technology
- Fluently English and German in speaking and writing
- Negotiating skills, assertiveness, engagement, quality awareness
- Willingness to travel mainly to Middle East and Asia Pacific
- Knowledge of Microsoft Office products
- Experience in presentation techniques

Place of work:

- Groß-Umstadt, Germany
- Regular business travels

Application:

We're offering an interesting and multisided function with long-term perspectives in a globally acting company Group. Please send your application letter in German including the information about your possible entry date to:

- Messer Cutting & Welding GmbH, Personalabteilung, Lärchenstr. 139 a, 65933 Frankfurt am Main, or
- karl.freigang@messer-cw.de

For further information of Messer Cutting & Welding GmbH see our homepage at www.messer-cw.com.